AN ONLY CHILD CALLED BY DEATH

Clara Stonier Passes Away in San Jose, After a Brave
Fight

Clara Stonier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stonier of the Hall ranch, was called by the Angel Death to eternal rest on Monday, after a long and brave fight for life. The bright little girl was stricken with pneumonia some time ago, but with good care and scientific treatment she rallied and began to convalesce very rapidly.

A change was advised to build up her strength, and her devoted parents took her to Santa Cruz, but there she contracted fresh cold and suffered a relapse. The patient was hastily removed to San Jose, where she received the best attention that was possibly obtainable, but gradually the frail little life flickered and she passed to the Great Beyond amidst the tears of the grief-stricken parents, bereft by her passing of their idolized only child.

Clara attended school here for several years and was a general favorite. She will be missed by many little playmates who awaited the time when she would rejoin them. Her death was a sorry blow to our esteemed residents, Mr. and Mrs. Stonier, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

The funeral took place Wednesday at 2 o'clock in San Jose, which was the former home of the family. Mrs. T. D. Hall was in attendance from here. "Leaves have their time to fall, And flowers to wither, at the north wind's breath, And stars to set."

STEINER-KOENIG CASE DECIDED

Judge Seawell rendered a decision yesterday in favor of the plaintiff, John Steiner, in the suit against Frank Koenig concerning the possession of the Union Hotel.

It is understood that Mr. Koenig will take an appeal.

Because of insufficient credentials Prof. Baker has tendered his resignation for the High School position here and another manual training and agricultural teacher is being sought by the Board of Trustees.

NATIVE SONS GALA TIME

Ninth of September Celebration at Santa Rosa to Attract Immense Crowds

From all accounts Santa Rosa will see one of the biggest and best Admission Day celebrations ever held in this State. All the parlor are planning fine features and unique entertainment.

Historic Sonoma will send a beautiful float representative of the stirring and historic events of the "splendid idle forties" and gallant Native Sons, assisted by Sonoma's Native Daughters, the prettiest bevy of maids and matrons in the State, will participate in the production of the pageantry.

Stanford Parlor, San Francisco's fine organization, will maintain headquarters at the beautiful new Agua Caliente Springs Hotel and will have their own brass band with them, traveling back and forth to the City of Roses on their special train de luxe. The Stanford boys are some Native Sons and do everything in a royal manner.

Mission Parlor, of which Al Berryessa is a popular member, outlines its program at Santa Rosa as follows:

Headquarters, Masonic Hall, corner Fourth and D streets. Dancing after noon of Sept. 9th and 10th; ice cream and light refreshments served to guests.

A grand ball and banquet will be held on the evening of Sept. 9th for members and their guests.

Sept. 9th—To commemorate the 66th anniversary of the admission of the State of California into the Union in a fitting way by one of the best parades ever held.

Mission Parlor will turn out 300 strong, headed by their brass band in command of Major Henry J. Heyer, followed by the prize winning drill team in command of Col. M. M. London.

No Freight to Be Received

The Northwestern Pacific agents here announce that their orders are to receive no perishable freight beginning with today (Saturday); other freight to be taken on the understanding of indefinite delivery, because of the possibilities of the nation-wide strike.

Ed Fay of San Francisco was arrested this week for speeding and having no number on his car. Judge Small fined him $20. Mr. Fay married Maud Sheerer here some years ago.

EVART AND WEISE ARE NOMINATED

Primary Election Results of Tuesday Recorded—Johnson Is Defeated in Sonoma County but Carries State

The contest for Supervisor from this district made the primary election Tuesday of special interest, since two men, Harry Weise and John M. Picetti, were running on this side of the district and three, Blair Hart, Wm. Evart and Murphy, on the other. Weise and Evart won out and will go on the ticket in November. Evart polled a total of 652 votes and Weise 438.

The defeat of John M. Picetti was a surprise, as he ran strong in both Sonoma precincts and also at Vineburg and San Luis. He put up a good, clean fight, one that any man could be proud of, and is a good loser. When approached to run as an independent candidate he flatly refused, as the object of interfering him into the campaign at this time was obvious.

Willis Booth defeated Hiram Johnson for U. S. Senator in Sonoma county and in the town also, but Johnson won out by decided majorities throughout other portions of the State.

"Bob" Madison won the assembly fight from his opponent, J. M. Talbot.

E. H. Hart for Congress polled 20,000 votes; Clarence Lea, Democrat, about 7,000.

There were 753 votes cast for Supervisor in the Lakeville Precincts and 1,118 votes cast in this valley. The other side poll about 90 per cent of its entire registration, and this valley just a little better than 50 per cent.

The vote by precincts for Supervisor is given below:

Sonoma—Evart 55, Hart 44, Picetti 151, Weise 54
Vineburg—Evart 17, Hart 24, Picetti 51, Weise 33
San Luis—Evart 21, Hart 56, Picetti 32, Weise 34
El Verano—Evart 55, Hart 35, Picetti 18, Weise 32
Agua Caliente—Evart 31, Hart 20, Picetti 18, Weise 44
East Glen Ellen—Evart 4, Hart 21, Picetti 10, Weise 55
Kenwood—Evart 17, Hart 16, Picetti 9, Weise 28
West Glen Ellen—Evart 24, Hart 30, Picetti 22, Weise 52
Lakeville—Evart 33, Hart 82, Picetti 1, Weise 42
Elmore—Evart 53, Hart 36, Picetti 5, Weise 14
Penn Grove—Evart 143, Hart 9, Picetti 2, Weise 16
Mills—Evart 89, Hart 10, Picetti 10, Weise 7
Cotati—Evart 110, Hart 10, Picetti 16, Weise 28
Totals—Evart 652, Hart 393, Picetti 345, Weise 438.

We regret the unintentional omission of the names of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Murphy from the list of guests at Silver Spray, Order of Eastern Star, anniversary last week in Napa. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are prominent members of the Order and took several guests with them in their automobile to the Napa affair.

BRILLIANT FETE AT EL CERRITO

Miss Garrett Entertains for Those Who Protected Fine Home
From Forest Fire

El Cerrito rancho, the beautiful country estate northeast of town, was the scene of a brilliant fete Saturday night last when Miss Elsa Garrett entertained for those who protected her fine home during the recent forest fire which endangered the property. In addition to the fire fighters were many friends and neighbors who joined in the festivities which were expressive of the greatest appreciation of the hostess. Lavish hospitality was dispensed throughout the evening, and Miss Garrett personally bestowed every imaginable courtesy upon her guests. The beautiful home was brilliantly illuminated and the grounds attractively lit with immense Oriental lanterns. The drawing room was arranged for card playing and the palm bedecked veranda prepared for dancing, for which a fine Victrola furnished music throughout the evening.

Something of the spirit of Hawaii and its tropical hospitality prevailed at Miss Garrett's fete, for coming as she did right from the Islands but a few days before, she seemed to have brought with her the atmosphere of lavish, care-free delight, and a night of real gladness was enjoyed to the utmost by all who were present.

During the early evening delicious Honolulu punch and bonbons were served, and about midnight a most elaborate repast of partaken of, Miss Garrett insisting on personally serving those who fought so bravely in the defense of her magnificent library and other treasures which had been endangered at the time of the fire.

The choicest viands, rare wines, ice cream and confectionery were partaken of.

Singing and dancing concluded the wonderful evening, which to many present seemed more like a chapter out of a brand new Arabian Nights tale than the entertainment of a most delightful hostess in Sonoma's "Valley of the Moon."

El Cerrito rancho is a beautiful home, and the library referred to contains 3,000 volumes of the rarest books, almost priceless in value and collected in all parts of the world.

The Garrett-Tower party, which included a number of eastern friends, heard by wireless on the steamer while en route from Honolulu, the first news of the fire. Upon arriving in San Francisco they came immediately to El Cerrito, bringing their guests with them.

Sonoma was defeated by Healdsburg last Sunday, but the ball team predicts that the jinx will be routed tomorrow when they play Santa Rosa here.

GRAPE PRICES ARE DISCUSSED

Association Makes Offer to Growers but Independents Have not yet Named Figure
They will Pay

The price to be paid for wine grapes is the topic of the hour in Sonoma Valley and has been the subject of keen interest particularly since the offer of the California Wine Association as hereafter outlined has come up for discussion. The portion of the crop which escaped the frost in this section is exceptionally fine and speculation is rife as to how much will be paid by the Independents.

Sam Sebastiani denies that he made an offer of $25 per ton as was announced in a Santa Rosa paper. He is offering the market price and under better terms but has not raised the price as made by the Association.

G. Sorini, the big fruit dealer and wine maker says he will make 75,000 to 100,000 gallons of wine this year if the price of grapes is right.

It is said that a deposit of $500 has been up in a local bank for some time to cover a portion of a contract on grapes which the grower agreed to sell for $23 per ton.

The following news has been received relative to the Association offer to our vintners:

For standard varieties of valley wine grapes, black or white, and of standard quality, $20 per ton, less 60 cents per ton for each degree of sugar below 22 per cent.

For grapes grown on the steep hillside and mountain in your district, and for finer varieties of grapes, such as Petit Syrah and Cabernet, a bonus up to $2 per ton in addition to price for grapes of standard quality.

For Burger or Mission grapes, or grapes which are not of standard quality, $18 per ton, with deduction for low sugar.

The terms of payment which will be provided for in the agreement will be $12 per ton in cash on completion of delivery, the balance in negotiable paper. Such negotiable paper is to mature on or before six months, and to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

Rev. Irving Spencer and wife of Inverness were up this week on a visit to Sonoma friends, and while here spent several hours at charming Lachryma Montis luncheon in the garden and otherwise enjoying themselves at the old Vallejo home with their friend, Lulu Vallejo Emparan.

Mrs. James Martin, 79 years of age and a former Sonoma pioneer, died this week in San Francisco. She resided for many years on Broadway, and leaves several sons to mourn the loss of a beloved mother. Mrs. Martin inherited a comfortable fortune some time ago.

Mrs. Farrell will give a grand barbecue and entertainment next Sunday at the Oaks. It will be free to all and a grand time is expected.

STORM STARTLES OLDEST RESIDENT

Sonoma Valley was treated to a rare phenomena during the early hours of Monday morning, when an electric disturbance, from out the sky produced one of the worst and most spectacular thunder and lightning storms ever experienced here, so say the oldest inhabitants. A terrific downpour, which above Kenwood in the vicinity of the Kunde ranch resembled a cloudburst, added to the unusual aspect of the weather, and the water, coming down in torrents, washed out trees, vines and a portion of the county road. In Bennett Valley a horse and cow were killed and a farmer rendered unconscious. The artillery lasted several hours. Fruit escaped with but little damage, as did also the hops, concerning which there was considerable apprehension. Prior to the storm a slight earthquake was experienced.

Delightful Time at Coffee Party

The coffee party given in honor of Mrs. K. Burnitz at the home of Mrs. Erhardt Steiger last Saturday was a most enjoyable affair. The ladies present were members of the French Mixed Club and included Mrs. Hopke, Mrs. Helberg, Mrs. Joe Keiser, Mrs. James Tate, the guest of honor, Mrs. Burnitz, and the hostess, Mrs. Steiger.

The ladies all brought their sewing and after busy hours at their needle work, sat down to a most enjoyable repast.

It was with regret that they learned of the leave-taking of Mrs. Burnitz this week. She has been the guest of Mrs. Hopke for three weeks, and during her sojourn has been much entertained. A dinner at which Rev. Father Angeles of St. Boniface parish, San Francisco, was in attendance, was also given during her stay here by Mrs. Hopke.

Benefit Card Parties

Goldenrod and wild parsley bloom were the pretty decorations in the brilliantly illuminated Hanger-Hunter home last Friday night, where the benefit card party for the Woman's Club house took place. A very congenial company of ladies and gentlemen played "500" for the worthy cause, and about $14 was netted.

Last night Mrs. G. H. Hotz was hostess at a card party for the benefit of the club house.

Mrs. McGowan of Australia is a guest at Boyes Springs. The lady is here from her far distant home for her health, as she is much depressed on account of the death of two splendid sons in the European war.

Mecca for Many This Evening, and Banquet-Dansant
Will Be Held

The beautiful new Agua Caliente Springs Hotel will open its doors tonight and representative people from all over the valley and from San Francisco will be in attendance at the banquet-dansant which will dedicate the fine new building.

The furnishings are rich and in excellent taste, and the accommodations will be the best to be found in the State. Sonoma Valley can well be proud of such a hotel, which will be able to handle the highest class trade, and everyone should attend the dedication festivities tonight and show their appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Richards' great enterprise.

The banquet menu will be elaborate and prepared by a noted chef late of the Portola-Louvre, San Francisco. Concert music will be furnished by the Royal Philippine Band, and the Portola orchestra will play for dancing.

Our Impressions of the Republican Presidential Candidate

IT IS GOOD to have seen and heard Charles E. Hughes, the man whom the country will undoubtedly honor in November with the presidency of the United States. Mr. Hughes has a strong personality, but there is nothing of the eccentric or spectacular about it. It is the personality which seems to embody our highest idealism of what an American should be—there is evident power, intelligence, balance, judgment, achievement. He has a professional bearing and the briskness of an American business man. When he speaks it does not sound stereotyped, but has the ring of the true, the expression of honest conviction and is expressed very forcibly, very plainly and very confidently. His bearing and his discussion of the needs of our country made one think of a physician who inspires confidence and gives assurance of the measures necessary for upbuilding. He assured his hearers that our body politic needs the application of some good Republican principle. We can well believe that if it is applied upon his prescription it will be effective.

Mr. Hughes impresses one as being the antithesis of vacillation. Yet withal he is not set or adamant and gives evidence of his breadth of character and openness of mind when he said that it was not necessary for the Republican party to be on a diet, but that it could absorb the best of everything in order to give it strength and endurance.

As the Republican candidate concluded his candid talk one felt satisfied that Americans have at last found the man who is no extremist, but the happy medium. He has force of character without the cowboy punch, and is neither a pedantic idealist like Wilson nor a blatant comer like Roosevelt. He is a man who would lend himself to full-length portrait and make us proud if it's title were simply "An American." He is rather a composite personality, embodying Lincoln's convictions and McKinley's statesmanlike qualities. We can well be proud of Charles E. Hughes, a man whom any power in the world would respect and honor both as a man and as president of the United States.

Demagogues' Agitation Begets Strikes

IT IS not hard to see that the country is on the verge of chaos because of industrial unrest which is to precipitate industrial warfare, for our citizens have become the victims of spell-binders and demagogues who rail on the street corners at employers and corporations, exaggerating the oppression of the working people, their grievances and their rights to such proportions that emotion instead of reason is running riot in the country. Insatiable demands are encouraged in the ranks of the working classes, who are primed for psychological political moments such as these by wild-eyed leaders and seize on these periods of prejudice, thus bringing us face to face with such prospects as the present nation-wide strike of the railroad employees.

The people have themselves to blame. Their own folly is being laid at their door quicker than has been presaged. All this inflaming to class prejudice and reform legislation which they have been crowding into our statutes has begotten this crisis. They have made the employer a hideous monster, a target for assault and periodic antagonism.

The people picked the school-master idealist, semi-socialist and faddist to guide the destiny of their country, which he has almost gotten on the rocks. They thought his ideas were so lofty, uplift was so good. It is this same muck-raking uplift that is pulling down the structure of our government upon our very heads.

Behold the spectacle of the highest executive in the land doing politics to curry favor with labor's vote by placing all the blame for the necessity of the strike upon the railroad chiefs.

If the country is paralyzed by a strike and domestic discord shakes the foundation of the nation, already menaced by a contemporary world war, let every voter consider what he has been doing with his ballot of late and the results which have been achieved by following the reform talk of fake prophets and self-seeking politicians. Crowding evolution's work into one administration is a diet any nation will crumble on. Let us have human rights before property rights, provided the thrifty, honest, well-meaning worker and his employer are considered. Let us not set a premium on the rights of humans of the I. W. W. type while pampering them to finally snap at the heels of men who make it possible for honest climbers to climb and honest workers to work.

Property is going to advance in value all along the State Highway. If your community is cut off from that, you will be cut off from prosperity. This is not a boost for the expenditure of $15,000,000 by the State, but is an acknowledgment of the benefits of high type roads and laterals. Whether such should be built by the counties with whatever of State or federal aid they can get, or should be a State matter, is problematical. Uniformity in plan and type of highway should of course prevail. The demand of communities to be along such routes of travel should be insistent.

LIVE STOCK AND PET SHOW

Agricultural Club of High School
May Give Interesting Exhibit This Fall

The Agricultural Club of the High School may give a very interesting exhibit this fall of live stock and also a pet show, if the plan of Principal Rowell is carried out. As it is too late for a fruit exhibit Mr. Rowell thinks it will be of even greater interest to show what can be done in the way of getting together some fine specimens of cattle, horses, sheep and hogs from the farms of Sonoma Valley. In conjunction with the show an exhibition of various pets, such as fine dogs, cats, squirrels, mice, guinea pigs, monkeys and parrots, will be an interesting feature and no doubt bring forth an undreamed of variety.

The plan should stimulate much interest in stock raising and scientific methods of getting the best results on the farm. With Sonoma shire horses at the State Fair from the London and Brandt ranches, Durocs from the Red Rock ranch and blooded horses being shipped to Japan from the Millerick stock farm, it should not be difficult to get most creditable entries for the coming exhibit.

Mrs. M. E. Murphy and Miss Florence Murphy are guests of Mesdames Gates and Hays at the Hotel Herald, San Francisco, and will attend the theater this evening.

President Wilson on Prohibition

President Woodrow Wilson has never approved of the plans of state wide prohibitionists. But he does heartily approve the local option system which has served California so well.

He says:

"I am in favor of local option. I am a thorough believer in local self-government, and believe that every self-government community which constitutes a social unit should have the right to control the matter of the regulation or of the withholding of licenses."

Did you ever notice how few men of any large experience in our governmental affairs are in favor of Prohibition? And have you noticed how many like President Wilson, believe that local option rather than prohibition is the solution of the problem?

STEEP TRAILS CLUB- WOMAN'S OUTING

Kings River Canyon's Beauties
Enjoyed by Mrs. Burlingame
On Her Vacation

The wild and rugged beauties of Kings River Canyon, as yet unexploited by the average vacationer because of inaccessibility and expense, was the country explored and greatly enjoyed by the intrepid Mrs. Carrie Burlingame, clubwoman and out-of-door enthusiast, during a vacation of two weeks, from which she returned Monday.

Mrs. Burlingame accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Montgomery on the trip, and the party also included a guide and six pack animals.

The trip was made to Hume, Fresno county, in the Montgomery automobile, and there the party outfitted, mounted horses and started for Camp Kanawyer, a two-days' journey, camping out en route. The trip out from Hume was one of great beauty, the altitude ranging from 5,000 to 8,000 feet and tall granite walls and bluffs rising on either side most wonderfully. North Dome and Grand Sentinel are right at the entrance to the South Fork of Kings River, which the party next traversed after spending a night at Kanawyer.

The trip into Paradise Valley was the richest of all in wild and inspiring scenery, but the eight miles of going was the roughest encountered anywhere and the sure-footed horses clove as if by magic to the sharp declivities and dizzy paths which the party followed, and at times an altitude of 7,000 and 8,000 feet was attained.

Fishing was plentiful, the guide bringing in twenty or thirty beauties in a few minutes time. Deer were seen everywhere, and Mrs. Burlingame got up one night to shoot off a bear which was sniffing around the commissary department of their outfit.

From Paradise Valley one can look at the Sierra Nevada's snow-capped peaks and glaciers. Extinct craters have formed bottomless lakes in the vicinity.

After traversing this rough country the party had to lay over at Camp Kanawyer and have every animal in the pack train re-shod before making the trip up Bubb's Creek to Kearsage Pass. The wild flowers along the meadows in this vicinity are said by Mrs. B. to be unusually beautiful. Kearsage Pass affords an inspiring glimpse over the snow-capped peaks of the Sierras to Owens Valley. From this point the party returned and started for Hume, where they viewed with interest the wonderful saw mill which flumes logs to Sanger, a distance of 70 miles. They also enjoyed the great giant trees of the U. S. Grant national forest.

Mrs. Burlingame wore corduroy on the entire outing and commends this fabric to anyone making such trips. She is looking the picture of health and is very enthusiastic over her journey.

Every Day Should Be for Christian Practice

Dr. Pfeiffer took for his theme on last Sunday morning "Religion Between Sundays." Speaking up on this topic, Dr. Pfeiffer very earnestly, forcibly and clearly advocated the religion of every day; the sort of religion which is never laid aside, but is a virile, living, helpful force in the economy and trials of the daily life—for the working day as well as for Sunday. There should be no break, no division in the continuity of religious thought and fervor, said this eloquent teacher, but every day should be equally filled with the desire and purpose of helping some weaker brother, some one less fortunate than ourselves, to a place in the sun.

This is the quality which gives religion the highest and truest value: that it be made helpful, workable, serviceable to human need and be practiced every day.

EDITOR INDEX-TRIBUNE—

Dear Sir: In answer to your request for a short article on Port Angeles and vicinity, I will say this: I can use an axe a whole lot better than a pen. However, here goes.

Port Angeles, Washington, is situated about half way between Cape Flattery and Port Townsend, on the Straits of San Juan de Fuca, and in my opinion has one of the finest harbors, outside of San Francisco, that I have ever seen. A natural gravel spit, running out in a semi-circle over three miles in length, forms a complete breakwater that encloses about nine square miles of water deep enough for the largest vessels.

The town, of about 5,000 inhabitants, is rather scattered and embraces an area of about five miles east and west and two and a half miles back from the harbor front. The soil in and around the town limits must be of good quality, if one can judge by the flowers, trees and vegetables grown by almost everyone having a piece of land.

There is one large saw mill in operation, in conjunction with a shingle mill. The daily output of these two mills are 500,000 feet of lumber and 1,000,000 shingles, which, I think, is going some for a little town like Port Angeles.

There has been a preliminary survey for a ship-building yard, and also rumors of a large pulp mill to be erected.

The Olympic Power Co. have a plant about five miles out on the Elwha river which generates 66,000 volts and supplies Port Angeles, as well as other places, with lights and electric power.

The much-talked of railroad has at last been completed through to Port Townsend, linking up the farming and dairying country through the Sequim district with a commercial center. The Sequim section has an annual rainfall of from 36 to 48 inches, generally distributed, so that there is no need for irrigation.

Now, I have seen Washington "wet" and Washington "dry," and, although it may be hard for me to say it, but it seems the general conditions of the district around Port Angeles today are better in every way than they were one year ago. I am no politician, so we will let it go at that.

In conclusion, I will say that I don't see anything to stop Port Angeles from becoming a city that will show up large on the map.

GLEN ELLEN CLUBDOM

The club met for its social meeting at the pretty redwood grove of Mrs. Edw. Payne last Friday. The president being absent, a regular meeting was held, but the afternoon was very pleasantly spent.

Mrs. Stewart entertained with pretty and well rendered songs, which were greatly appreciated by her hearers, and she was encored many times.

Mrs. Chase gave a very interesting talk about her work as home teacher in the Los Angeles schools, an experiment undertaken there under the supervision of the Commission of Immigration and Housing of California. The home teacher is on the teacher's pay-roll and belongs to the school department, just as any other teacher, only her work is with the immigrant mothers. She is supposed to teach them our language, house-keeping and make them acquainted with American customs and our mode of living. To attain it she organizes mothers' classes in sanitation, cooking and housekeeping. The cooking is taught in school after school hours, and for house-keeping they have a small flat where the women are taught how to make beds, sweep and generally keep the flat in good order. Mrs. Chase, who speaks Spanish, had worked with the Mexican and Japanese immigrants. At first she met with ridicule and a little opposition, but her tact and experience in settlement work soon won her the confidence and love of the Mexican and Japanese women, and her work was very successful and beneficial, not only to women themselves, but also to the community at large, and especially it benefited the children.

Mr. Payne favored the club by reading one of Mrs. Payne's poems, "Baby Bet," which was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Brown, a new comer in the valley, gave a talk calling the attention of the club to school conditions. She has three children going to school and they complain to her of scarcity of water in the school house. It seems the Glen Ellen school is most of the time without water and the teacher has to send one of the pupils for water down to Glen Ellen and have it packed up on the hill. Some of the club members discussed the question and decided to bring it up at the next business meeting.

Refreshments concluded Mrs. Payne's delightful afternoon.

"BILL" RUSSELL MAY INHERIT FORTUNE

Several years ago Walter G. Russell, 50, a prosperous Genesee county farmer, sat before a woman who claimed to be a fortune teller. He bared his hand, and as the weird woman read the palm lines she chattered strangely to herself, and then revealed the future life of the farmer. As a result of her prophecies, Russell today believes himself one of the heirs of Gideon Howland of Boston, Mass., whose $2,000,000 estate was released by the death of Hetty Green, to be divided among some 408 beneficiaries.

The fortune teller made three predictions which were regarded lightly by the farmer until things began to happen that showed their foundations on truth. She said he had two brothers, one of whom would be found in California after a long separation, while the other would never be seen again. Thus far this prediction has come true. Walter found his brother in the state named after 36 years of separation, and he is now living at Pontiac as William J. Russell. The other brother cannot be found. A thorough search was conducted in the east without success.

The woman predicted, thirdly, that Russell would inherit money on the death of Hetty Green. The fact that the first two predictions have come true causes Russell to believe that he is one of the beneficiaries in the Howland will.

Russell and his two brothers lost their parents when quite young. The boys were placed in a New England orphan home and their adoption into Michigan families resulted in their separation. Their relationship to Howland is unknown. — Detroit, Michigan, News-Tribune.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.
